THE INDIANS.

Gen. Miles' Successful Campaign.

National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A Herald special from the Tongue River Encampment, Dec. 21, via Boxman, W. T. Jan. 15, says Gen. Miles, of the Fifth Infantry, has returned to that post after a successful campaign against Sitting Bull.

The command, numbering four hundred and thirty-nine men, marched over six hundred miles in forty-five days, defeating Sitting Bull in three distinct engagements, and driving him back to the Yellowstone River, where it is supposed he will cross and endeavor to form a junction with Crazy Horse, who is in the Big Horn country with an immense camp of hostile Cheyennes and Ugalias.

Gen. Miles was compelled to return for want of supplies, but will start again within a week to prevent, if possible, the junction of Sitting Bull with Crazy Horse.

Sitting Bull's forces have been so completely routed by General Miles that there is little doubt of his capture or surrender at an early day. The last fight with Sitting Bull was on the 18th of December, on the headwaters of Red Creek, when Lieutenant Baldwin with three companies of the Fifth Infantry attacked his command, completely routing him, and capturing most of his lodges and a large number of ponies, besides destroying all the robes, meat and other provisions of the village. The command, during the campaign, suffered severely from cold weather.

THE ASHTABULA HORROR.

Talk About a Water Supply and Other Details.

National Associated Press to the Star.

ASHTABULA, Jan. 16.—The investigation into the Ashtabula disaster is not yet concluded, but it has been conclusively shown before the Coroner's Jury that the only remark by a railroad employee that could be construed into anything like refusing to allow water to be thrown on the wreck was made by the station agent to the Chief of the Ashtabula Fire Department. The Chief asked him which side he wanted water thrown on, and the agent replied, "We want help more than water." G. A. Knapp, Chief Engineer of the Ashtabula Fire Department, on his cross-examination, stated positively that no directions of intimidation were given him against throwing water on the wreck so that the bodies could not be recognized, by the Railroad Company or any one else.

He further stated: "I knew I had a perfect right to do what I thought best, regardless of any one, but I understood the wreck too far consumed by fire for water to save it. It is a well settled conviction in this city by parties who lost relatives and friends that a want of water had only the result of making bodies unrecognizable. It would not have quenched the fire except by making a vast amount of steam, which was still more objectionable and would have hindered saving the wounded. If there was anything in its not being used, it was the fault of no one connected with the Lake Shore Railroad."

On the body of one of the burnt victims, now lying in the vault, was found the watch-pocket of a vest in which was a pair of eye-glasses and a good-sized jack-knife with the letters "G. W." stamped on the blade.

Serious Railroad Accident.

National Associated Press to the Star.

BUFFALO, Jan. 16.—A collision occurred on the New York Central Railroad near Byron, this morning, by an engine running into a working train. Three persons were killed and seven injured.

THE EXCITED SOUTH.

South Carolina.

AS SEEN BY A MAN WHO IS A LITTLE PREJUDICED.

National Associated Press to the Star.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 16.—The meeting of so-called tax-payers here to indorse Chamberlain was a failure. One white man, about one hundred negroes, some women and some boys made up the crowd in attendance. There were not $100 in taxes represented. Speeches were made and resolutions passed, but an air of depression pervaded at the meeting, which quietly adjourned.

There is great desultion among negroes in the low country, owing to the unsettled condition of affairs in the State. The Republicans of Hamilton pray the Democrats to have their Government recognized at once as the only thing to save the people from starvation.

Louisiana.

NO MATERIAL CHANGE IN THE SITUATION.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—Mr. Packard called on Gen. Augur for assistance to regain possession of the Supreme Court, and the General referred the matter to the Executive for definite instructions.

The Evening Democrat yesterday advised the lynching of Packard. It is estimated that Nicholas' local force numbers ten thousand men.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—A. M.—At this writing there is no material change in the situation. A large crowd of colored people have assembled around the State-house, where the Republican leaders are jubilant over news from Washington. Governor Packard declines to state what measures he will take to secure obedience to his proclamation, further than the statement that it is his earnest desire to avoid bloodshed or to create bitterness against his administration for the future. He is now in consultation with the Judges of the Supreme Court.

FOREIGN.

National Associated Press to the Star.

A London dispatch from Constantinople says that after the sitting of the Conference yesterday Marquis Salisbury had an interview with the Sultan, who now shows a disposition to accept the modified conditions of the Conference.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—It is reported from Constantinople that Turkey has accepted the Conference proposals. Consols are quoted at 93 7/16.

Governor of Bulgaria.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Globe this afternoon says that it is understood that Nubar Pasha, who was for many years at the head of the Egyptian Ministry, and whose retirement a year ago was so much regretted in Europe, has accepted the Porte's offer of the Governorship of Bulgaria.

THE CONFERENCE NOT YET A SUCCESS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 16.—At the Conference yesterday a modified proposition by the Powers was discussed, but met no favor from the Turkish representatives.

The Powers now propose that the appointment of Governors of the Provinces be subjected to their approval only during the next five years, and that instead of an International Commission a mixed body, composed of Europeans and Turks, be established.

After making his communication, Lord Salisbury announced that if the Porte did not agree to the proposals made, he had instructions to quit Constantinople.

Sir Henry Elliott said he also had been instructed, in that event, to withdraw and leave the British Embassy in care of the Charge d'Affaires.

All other plenipotentiaries, in succession, made similar declarations, some of them laying stress on the fact that it was to the Porte's interest to accept the proposals.

Salvet Pasha replied. He expressed regret that the decision of the Powers should require him to refer the matter to the Porte before giving a final answer, but he would say he did not think it possible for Turkey to yield upon the question relative to the appointment of Governors, and the appointment of Governors, those proposals, which affect the independence of the Porte, having already been rejected. The Porte, however, would examine the communication, and reply definitely thereto at the next sitting.

The Conference will assemble on Thursday if the Turkish answer is then ready.

THEY DIED TOGETHER.

A Sick Mother With Her Babe Plunges in the Ohio River at Dayton, Ky.

One of the saddest domestic tragedies which we have ever been called upon to chronicle occurred late last night in the beautiful little city of Dayton, Ky.

A mother in the delirium of pain gathered her ten-days-old babe to her breast and stealing from the comfortable fireside of her home, leaving another child and her fond husband unaware of her intentions, proceeded to the river and committed suicide and caused the death of her innocent babe—a girl.

The woman, Mrs. Amelia Blasing, was the wife of a German carpenter, Wm. Blasing, who lives on Fifth street, in the neighborhood of Father Grome's church, and employed in this city with Mr. Henry Behrens, a contractor and builder, at No. 12 Baker alley.

Last evening he went home as usual, and found his wife in apparent good spirits, though complaining of pains in her breast and head, from which causes she has been ailing since the birth of her child, ten days ago. A female physician has been prescribing for her for milk sickness.

Mrs. Blasing retired with the child about 11 o'clock, the husband a few minutes later in another room. An hour later he was aroused by his wife getting up and stirring about the house. He arose also, and looking into the sitting room saw his wife all dressed, and the baby also completely wrapped up in her arms.

Again he sought his couch, thinking nothing of the circumstance. Soon after he called to her, telling her it was time to go to bed. No answer was returned. Again he called; still no response. Becoming alarmed at her silence, he arose and went in quest of her. He hunted all through the house and in the yard, but found no trace. Then, fearing the worst, he called at the residence of a neighbor, Mr. Fred. Dinneen, and requested his assistance in looking for the truant mother and the babe.

From this time until half-past 2 o'clock this morning the search was kept up, but with no success. Finally, by the aid of a lantern which one of the men carried, footprints were discovered in the snow leading down to the river.

With an agonized heart the poor husband dashed down to the roaring and angry river, filled with ice, at the junction of Clark and Second streets, but a few hundred yards from his house, and, looking into the water, descried a dark object floating near the shore, kept from leaving the shore by an eddy which circles there.

Getting a pole, Blasing towed the ice upon which the object lay, to the shore, and there could be death lay his wife with the babe in her embrace, dead. The bodies, with the help of Mr. Dinneen, were laid stark and cold upon the rocks at the water edge, and then, as soon as the neighbors were alarmed, some thoughtful person procured a quilt and threw over the ghastly sight.

In this condition the bodies lay until this morning about 10 o'clock, when Coroner O. M. Winsor, of Newport, arrived. Impenetrating a jury from among the horro-stricken and sympathetic crowd which surrounded the sad spectacle, the formality of an inquest was gone through with, and then the poor woman and her child were conveyed to Tatem, Secretary and Auditor of the Cincinnati Southern Railway, was received and filed, in which it was stated that the communication from the Board, in relation to the proposed occupation of McLean avenue, for the accommodation of the north approach to the Ohio River Bridge for said railway, had been received, and that the communication had been laid over for further consideration.

Give Mr. Heyl Fair Play.

To the Editor of the Star:

Your issue of the 15th inst., relating to the proceedings in the Commissioner's Court upon Saturday last, does me injustice. It has never been alleged by affidavit or otherwise that I was a counterfeiter. On the contrary, I was tried for passing counterfeit money which came into my possession through the ordinary routine of my business. The guilty knowledge of such being the fact I disclaim, and simply ask for a suspension of public opinion until the final trial is had.

Respectfully, VALNTINE HEYL.

Dr. Howard Crosby, one of the cheeriest, wisest and best of the New York clergy, related an amusing personal experience at the second anniversary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. He said that he had come across a young bully on Second avenue who was engaged in an attempt to break up the harps of two Italian boys. "It was not more than twenty seconds," said the Doctor, "when, to use an unclerical expression, I was in his hair." A pretty quick struggle followed, but the Doctor, in the end, vanquished his opponent, and handed him over to the police. "One is always excusable," says Dr. Crosby, "for fighting even a rowdy, when the quarrel is between the rowdy and outraged society."

Miss Emily Faithfull thinks every person should have a gymnasium, and every woman's reformatory should have a skating rink. But how would Faithfull like to cut her P's and Q's on ice with no nice young man to catch her in his arms just as she wants to fall, but doesn't dare to?

A belief in color-poisoning by means of green dyes and green wall papers has already been forced upon the public by some tolerably conclusive evidence; but it seems that the mischievous propensities of this color are far from being yet fully exposed. A French savant, M. Paul Bert, has just exhibited against it articles of impeachment of the gravest character, supported by reports of a whole series of startling experiments. If his theory is true, it is not only the arsenic used in producing the color which does the injury, but the actual color itself; and a mere ray of green light is capable of affecting the health of the person exposed to it, apart from all aid afforded to it by the smell or presence of arsenic. To demonstrate this alleged fact, M. Bert has submitted several specimens of the sensitive plant to rays of different colors thrown upon them through stained glass, and in every case those which were treated to the most brilliant green light withered and died in the shortest time. In those plants which were exposed to a red light a peculiar phenomenon was observed; the tips
